This is an attractive Victorian structure with a good collection of out-buildings and much gingerbread detail. It is three bays wide and about four deep. The house is L-shaped with a porch on the side filling up the open part of the L. All the windows are 4/4 sashes. The mansard roof is covered with slate shingles arranged in a decorative pattern. The porch, which runs along the side and around to the front, has a turned balustrade and round wooden arches between the pillars. The windows, which open out onto the porch, are actually high narrow French doors. At the rear of this house is a much lower three story Mansard addition. There is a small privy at the rear of the house with a cupola and gingerbread detail along the roof line. There is a huge gingerbread trellis at the rear of the house and a shaped splat wooden fence which runs all around the property. This is a very well-maintained and very good Victorian structure. It has many fine details and much good gingerbread cutting. Condition: Very good
